

Mike

Allen

Doug Fischer, jazz columnist for the Ottawa Citizen, calls the 41 year-old native of Kingston, Ontario "the country's top jazz saxophonist" in a recent review in which his seventh album Love One Another was chosen "#1 Canadian Jazz Album of 2005". Jazz Journal International refers to Mike as "an accomplished musician who has studied Coltrane in depth and forged a style that is fresh and vital".

Mike Allen is profiled in Mark Miller's Miller Companion to Jazz in Canada and has a Master's in Jazz from New York University. He has performed and/or recorded with internationally recognized players including Cedar Walton, Julian Priestler, Kenny Wheeler, Peter Leitch, Gary Bartz, John Taylor, Brad Turner, Jim Snidero, Brian Lynch, Don Friedman, Don Thompson, John Ballantyne, Kevin Dean, Phil Dwyer, Jay Thomas, Chuck Israels, Donald Bailey, Ali Jackson, Seamus Blake, and Pete Magadini. He was a member of Canadian guitar legend Sonny Greenwich's band from 1990 to 1995. His playing is featured on Greenwich's Standard Idioms (Kleo) and Fragments Of A Memory (Cornerstone). In 1993, Canada's national newspaper, The Globe and Mail listed Mike as one of a half-dozen "Interesting Canadians To Watch". Since then, he has been performing primarily on the West Coast, with several Canada-wide tours and regular features on nationally aired CBC radio broadcasts. Fearless, Allen's 2004 release was chosen by Public Radio International jazz host Jim Wilke, as one of the "Best Pacific Northwest Jazz CDs of 2004", while his 2003 trio album Dialectic won "Outstanding Jazz Recording 2003" at the Western Canadian Music Awards. Mike has received prestigious Arts Council grants over the years to study with tenor giants Joe Henderson, and Joe Lovano. Mike's groups perform mostly original material comprised of lyrical tunes and swinging blues, played with intensity.
