To Whom It May Concern:

The Shan-e-Punjab dance School, run and directed by Sonia Grewal, is quite well known and respected for teaching Indian cultural dance to the community in Victoria. The school has been in existence since November 1993 and has taught more than 300 students. Sonia's dedication and continuous hard work has won her a lot of prestigious awards in the past, along with the chance to present her choreography at the welcome ceremony at the Tall Ships Celebration in June 2005.

More personally, Sonia Grewal's contribution to the community through participation in the annual Diwali Show organized the Victoria Hindu Parishad is deeply appreciated. Sonia's dance school has been continuously performing, and thrilling audiences, for our show since its inception, 10 years ago. The main purpose of this annual event is to bring cultural awareness to the population of Greater Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island and to raise funds for the Victoria Hindu Parishad. We are very grateful for her enthusiastic support and dedicated efforts in training the local artists, which have made this event so successful, year after year.

Yours sincerely,

AkAgarwal
